However, I would also argue that the higher density in this area is more of an issue than the traffic. To me, it seems that people are trying to move to the central level of Hwy 520 to get into the higher-density area (housing and business). Not that the area is dense now, but if people are going to do that, they might as well do it to the centerline of 520 and get in the better area. There is a huge demand for lots along Cedar Springs Rd. The people I know who live along Cedar Springs Rd. plan to build a new home in the future. That is the only way that Cedar Springs Rd. will be developed, as that is where the demand is. The area around the new South Hills branch of the library will be largely abandoned for that same reason. I had been under the al d647c40b
