Simnor Clock is a desktop enhancement application designed to allow you to set up a digital clock on your desktop with just a few simple steps. It was designed to be very easy to use and very intuitive for users of all skill levels. Simnor Clock utilizes a minimalist design that incorporates many useful configuration options in order to help you customize the clock and achieve optimal operation. Simnor Clock is a lightweight application. It does not require you to have a large install or impact other parts of the system. Simnor Clock was designed to be highly configurable, giving you the power to add colors to the desktop clock or change the appearance of the clock. Simnor Clock offers you the ability to use an alarm clock or a digital clock that displays the current time in the days, hours, minutes and seconds. Simnor Clock is a simple clock that displays the time in the following format: HH:MM:SS Where: H - A number between 0 and 24 indicating the time of the day. M - A number between 0 and 59 indicating the minute. S - A number between 0 and 59 indicating the seconds. For example, if you wish to display the time in full-hour format, the number of the clock will be HH and the time of the day will be MM. Simnor Clock comes packed with a basic calendar. The calendar is customizable and allows you to choose between several day formats. You can add a month to the calendar by simply dragging it. The calendar has several functions and allows you to sort the days by name, date, and month. The calendar allows you to jump to the next or previous month, go to the current date or stay at the current date. Simnor Clock comes packed with several themes and allows you to set the clock's opacity. Each clock display has a different color, which can be adjusted by using the opacity slider. Simnor Clock comes packed with an option to keep the clock on top of other programs. With this option enabled, the clock is placed in the immediate foreground and becomes the only application on the desktop. This option allows you to set the clock's transparency. You can select a different font from several options and adjust the size by changing the text size. Simnor Clock comes packed with a handy theme selector. The options are: black, white, orange, red,
