A 2010 Indian Hindi romantic comedy film starring Anushka Sharma and Ranveer Singh. The film is based on the book of the same name, which tells the love story of Danaï (Anushka Sharma) and Ben (Ranveer Singh). The film is set in the fictional city of Golestan (literally, "a place where nothing exists" (khula)) and the village of Gaysharvar (literally, "a place where nothing grows"). Three main characters meet there - Dana (Anechka Sharma), her fianc  Ben (Ranveer Singh) and the maid Adi (Kaiti). Three young girls come to their native village for a wedding, and on the way they meet their old friend, a young man Rami, with whom all three heroines fall in love, but he immediately shows his interest in Danae. The film premiered in cinemas in India on October 27, 2011. It was released on DVD the same day. The film grossed over $2 million in its first week and topped the box office in all three countries - India, Pakistan and Nepal. The film was directed by Ravi Bhagari and composed by Shiv Kunta. The film received a good response from critics. Among the positive reviews of film critics there are enthusiastic ones. Some of the reviewers stated that the entire film is built around internal squabbles between the three main characters. For example, in the November 24, 2012 film review on www.doubheishta.com, it says: "Because the film focuses on the theme of love, the gap between the energetic, beautiful, but jealous, two young girls who cannot find each other becomes very important." The film was awarded the Best Director Award at the Lugano International Film Festival in 2012 and also received critical acclaim from the Sunday Express website, which wrote the following: The main success of the film lies in its rich and interesting history. The film "Ben and Danae" (or "We're Married!") has been a hit with audiences for several years now in Pakistan, South India and Bangladesh. But outside of India, the picture has gathered a whole army of promising actors." December 2, 2012 the film received a prize at the International Film Festivals in Berlin
