What's new in Bryant's Freeski:

This add-on allows you to fly the island of Helgoland in X-Plane 11. It features an interactive island of 38 stations and Zerpel fuel. The track takes you past military installations, propellers, cargo ships, airfields and windmills. Intro The add-on is centered around the DSH Helgoland. It makes use of launches and carriers from the released X-Plane Map, together with sections of their own planes. These include the Fokker 50, Cessna 172 and the Soviet Yakovlev Yak-12. For the latter two, we also added their full flying characteristics. This add-on requires the visualizer to be installed, and was developed under X-Plane 11. Installation Download and unzip the addon to your X-Plane 11 folder. From the X-Plane Desktop, you can load the addon into the following category: Aerosoft/Add-ons/Helgoland/Helgoland XP You can also load this addon using the Module Manager. F.A.Q. Q: How do I launch multiple planes from the same ship? A: The correct way to do this is to select the plane and in the Module list, enable LTO (Launch To Orbit). Then you should be able to launch multiple planes by double clicking on the ships icon (the plane icon should turn into a launching marker). Alternatively, you can use the Package Manager: use the 'Launch To Fly' package. Q: I followed your instructions but I am still getting "Invalid Target Model" error messages in the Flying Map screen. A: If you don't have the.ini file located at C:\Users\[username]\AppData\Roaming\XPlane\Addons\Helgoland XP you have to create one and rename it to.ini (no extension) and then the add-on will be able to find it Q: Aren't you afraid that people will try to crack your addon? A: It's a bit hard to crack, as everything is quite old, with no programming except the config file (which has plenty of comments in it). Nevertheless, it's a good thing if you're not afraid of having someone

Labours of Michael, physician (ca. 1550) The second son of Sir Robert Fludd and his wife, Katherine, was named after his father's friend, Dr. Rowland Fletcher. Robert Fludd, the elder, was the son of a London apothecary and a gentlewoman of Wendover. Rowland Fletcher, the younger, was the son of a London apothecary and a gentlewoman of Digby, who as a young man was admitted a scholar of the Middle Temple. Prior to the birth of Sir Robert, Rowland and Katherine Fletcher had moved to nearby London, in order that Katherine might pursue her legal studies. Rowland proved to be an industrious man who became one of the most successful physicians in London. He was also well versed in the world's classics, and helped his father, Robert, to translate some of the Septuagint. Among these works was one that appeared in 1535 under the title, "Musickes Diversion". On June 1, 1551, Rowland was admitted a fellow of the College of Physicians, and about a month later he was admitted to the same college as a bachelor of medicine. His father, Robert, died in

(Image: Saul Loeb/AFP/Getty) IT HAS been dropped. Carbon dioxide, a hugely important greenhouse gas responsible for up to a quarter of global warming over the past century, has been scrubbed from the UN's climate change target to keep global warming to 2°C above preindustrial levels. This is a huge relief for many countries and a bitter blow to the US, the world's biggest carbon dioxide emitter. The Kyoto Protocol, the UN's climate treaty, assumed that carbon dioxide emissions would be avoided until 2064 in order to achieve the target. But over the past 15 years, CO 2 emissions have more than doubled in
