Elden Ring Game, developed by Spark Seven Corp. and published by Square Enix Ltd., is an action RPG that runs on the Luminous Engine and the development team is working on its next game to be released later this year. The “Lands Between” (Elden Ring, Elden Fylking and Axys) are three worlds connected by a plain between them, and a great action game that takes place in this world was first announced by director Hiromichi Tanaka in February 2014 and the world was fully revealed in September. In the same month, Game Director Hiromichi Tanaka, Project Manager and Artist Kenichiro Tsukuda, and Character Designer Tomoyuki Suzuki announced the participation of voice actors from around the world. In June, SOPHIA was unveiled as the official mascot of the game, which made her appearance in the official blog. In August, five years after the success of the FINAL FANTASY TACTICS ORIGINS, the development team announced that they were developing a new game in collaboration with Square Enix using the FINAL FANTASY TACTICS (FINAL FANTASY TACTICS II) engine. At that time, the development team were already discussing the concept of the game and the story it was going to tell. The development team, which consisted of Director Hiromichi Tanaka, Game Director Hiroshi Minagawa, artist Kenichiro Tsukuda, and Character Designer Tomoyuki Suzuki, decided to create a new action RPG in collaboration with Square Enix in order to develop an “immersive world with a high production value” along with the unique action that only the Luminous Engine could provide. In March 2015, the development team held the FINAL FANTASY TACTICS MOBILE press conference and in June, Studio Director Fuminori Minagawa and Character Designer Tomoyuki Suzuki officially announced the participation of the FINAL FANTASY series’ official mascots as part of the game, which was a special development collaboration with the traditional FINAL FANTASY series that has been carried on for the past 23 years. The development team, consisting of Director Hiromichi Tanaka, Game Director Hiroshi Minagawa, Character Designer Tomoyuki Suzuki, Artists Shigeo Kohda and Kenichiro Tsukuda, were busy with their development tasks, but in August 2015, they held a special meeting, with Studio Director Fuminori Minagawa and Character Designer Tomoyuki Suzuki announcing that they were planning to attend the Tokyo Game Show 2016 in order to provide
