Background I was in a situation where I had to reverse a credit card. I had no money to spend at the time so I was trying to recover my money from a lending co and I needed to reverse the credit card. I could not access the card in the card reader. Question What I cannot understand is that for the first time I had to reverse a credit card and it had a foreign name on it. Will this complication cause issues and if yes what can I do to avoid them? A: This is the credit card details of a brand new credit card. Your bank issued it to you and you can use it to make purchases. You use it for purchases. You pay the bank from your bank account. If you get any kind of problem or do not have enough money to pay, they are (or should be) the ones who take care of it, not you. If you run into problems, you can call them, ask your bank for help. They are also required to notify your bank that you cannot or do not pay, so your bank has the option of reinstating your card. If you want to call the company that issued you the card, the best thing to do is visit them. If you cannot visit them, you can call them. A: You should never reverse a credit card. The very reason why they exist is because the credit card company, not you, pay the fees for you. If you
