In this world, three forces--Aelfric, the young king of a little country, his extremely dedicated and skilled knight Sadler and his associate Zizi, the Imperial Grand General of the Empire of Aelfric--defend this world. The lands between Aelfric and Sadler's small country are protected by the great power and knowledge of the Imperial Grand General Zizi. But some people secretly support the Empire of Aelfric, and they have a plan to take over this world. "This world is my home. It's just that some people have come to the Lands Between to destroy it." And it is up to you, who has passed the test and become a Knight of the Elden Ring, to find the traitor and burn the Lands Between to ashes so that Aelfric, Sadler, and Zizi can live on in peace." Nidhogg 2(RPGRPG) By: Chuck After successfully playing Nidhogg on Wii and Mac last year, I finally played Nidhogg 2 on my iPhone last month and really enjoyed the game. It's easy to pick up and play and much more effective at making use of the touch screen than the Wii version. Some slight issues, such as short animations for special moves, are enjoyable in their own way and don't really get in the way of the good parts. Nidhogg 2 is a great game to play alongside Nidhogg on the Wii. In the first game, only one person could play at a time. Once you became an Elden Lord on the Wii, you could share your game of Nidhogg with other people remotely and play as a character on their Wii instead of your own. This is such a cool feature and is so well done that it is hard to believe that this game was ever remade and ported to iPhone. The online multiplayer is a blast. I absolutely love the online play in this game. It's easy to pick up and start playing with people, and the ability to instantly connect with people both across the country and across the world is incredible. Overall, I absolutely love Nidhogg 2. It's a great game to play with friends, and it stands alone as an excellent, fun, and addictive game. Highly recommended.

-Chuck Spelunky: Caverns of the Ancient Spelunkers By: Sid For those of you who haven't played Spelunky, it's a game that was once free on the PC and featured in such magazines as PC Gamer and GameSpot. I'm not going to go into great detail about the game, since that's covered in the reviews. Basically, you're dropped down a bottomless shaft in a randomly generated level, and you've got to find your way back to the surface. The various obstacles and bizarre things that you come across in the level are there for a reason, and they make the game more challenging. The game really shines with play on the iPhone. Not only does it give you a larger screen to work with, but it really adds to the atmosphere. The graphics are cartoony, and you can feel the game has been made for the iPhone, but it still looks like it was made for a computer to me. Probably the biggest complaint that I have about the game is its difficulty
