I have a set of thousands of images that I have to organize. I'm not a professional photographer, but I am a programmer by profession. I am hoping to make an application that would help me organize my pictures in a fast, easy and intuitive way. I want to make an application with the following features: I want to be able to put pictures into folders (of course) I want to be able to put pictures into a specific folder based on the date they were taken (every year I just upload all of my pictures to a folder called Pictures/year1/year2/year3...) I want to be able to tag them I want the order of the images to go in the order they were taken I want the pictures to use a specific file type (for example, I should be able to save as JPG, TIFF, BMP and PNG) I want the files to be save in a specific folder
