Established in 1998, Codemasters has become a leading developer, publisher and distributor of interactive entertainment software. The firm focuses on developing and publishing games on all major platforms - PC and consoles. Featuring one of the most advanced game development studios in the UK, the company is based in the UK's largest interactive entertainment park - located in Warwickshire, Coventry Studios. In 2007, Codemasters pioneered the release of the PC Game on the Nintendo Wii and Wii U systems. Further high-profile releases have included the cross-platform racing games F1 2012 and Test Drive Unlimited 2. The company's racing franchise continues to grow with its successful foray into eSports with the addition of an online eSports division. Do you want to reduce exhaust emissions in Sunny Springs and conserve resources while simultaneously ensuring mobility in public transport? Then why not try out the new MAN Lion's City CNG city buses? The third expansion of the Bus Simulator 16 provides three environmentally-friendly alternatives to your diesel vehicles, licensed by MAN, the European market-leader in CNG-powered city buses. The 12-meter MAN Lion's City CNG, a two-door model with horizontal engine, is a flexible all-rounder. For higher passenger volumes at rush hour and on public holidays, the 14.6-meter long MAN Lion's City L CNG is the ideal choice. This 3-axle solo bus has three doors and sufficient space to seat your passengers in comfort while still offering the maneuverability required to navigate narrow side streets. However, the new superstar in your fleet is undoubtedly the "Bus of the Year 2015" - the Man Lion's City GL CNG. This modern articulated bus, which is 18.75 meters long and boasts 5 doors, ensures efficient and fast boarding and disembarking, especially when passenger volumes are high. You save time at the bus stop and can get more passengers to their destination on time. By the way, if you convert your fleet to energy-efficient CNG buses, you'll also notice a positive difference in your weekly bills! For the third expansion pack of the Bus Simulator 16, you require the main game. You do not have to purchase the expansion in order to continue playing with your friends in multiplayer mode. However, without the expansion your use of the new content will be restricted.Features: Three new, authentically recreated, officially licensed MAN city buses MAN Lion's City CNG: Solo bus, 12 meters long, 2 axles,

Published and distributed by Hentio Limited, a company registered in England and Wales with company number 8296274.Q: Best way to send post requests in a Angular app I've inherited a Angular app where the backend API has no discernible way to read the body of a HTTP POST request as is standard with ASP.NET MVC or Rails. Instead, it accepts a form that has a hidden input field so that the backend knows what to do with it. A recent change has made it a mandatory field and so I have to add this hidden input to all forms. The code for this is: "> So my question is, what is the best way to make Angular POST a request. My first thought would be to add this hidden field, and then use the Angular $http library to build a regular query string and post it. This seems hackish. Can anyone provide better alternatives? There is also a single page where the user can submit an issue or respond to feedback they've received. I have to post data to a non-standard URL in the response to this action. I would expect the same hackish solution to be applied here as well. A: I've just gone through the same thing with a previous employer, and I ended up just wrapping the $http call in a factory - so that way you get the benefits of instantiation as well as some built in security. angular.module('app').factory('api', function($http, $q) { var settings = { headers: { 'Content-Type': 'application/x-www-form-urlencoded' } }; return { checkSignature: function(req, res, next) { if (!req.url.match(/.*api/.{2})).exec('json')) return next();

Konami has released the MAN Lion's City CNG Monster Truck Truck Bus Simulator 16 - MAN Lion's City pack. The purchase link can be found HERE Project Anarchy - the license-free project to restore all of the innovative features designed into the original Cargotec Control Truck simulation, upgraded and enhanced to fit the latest game engine! MAN Lion's City, known for its lavish projects, boasts the world's tallest office building in Frankfurt at 125 m. Its offices occupy 15 floors. For parking solutions at the Frankfurt Main Trade Fair it installed one of the world's first computer-controlled, fully controlled underground transportation systems. Arriving on the market in 1995, an all-manual German truck developed by MAN AG is the foundation for a commonly used competitor on domestic and international vehicle markets. The truck can deliver to 1500 tonnes in one load on highway and is well-known for its high quality construction with its seven-millimetre-thick glazed glass doors. In addition to this, World of Trucks has received many awards at various trade fairs for its use in real series projects, such as in the Tempelhof Airport in Berlin or at the airport in Schönefeld, in the Stuttgart Airport. A large number of replica series vehicles have been displayed during the AVSIM fair, for example, in Germany, the United States, Japan, Korea, the UAE and India. Every giant trolleybus from New York fits perfectly in Times Square. Specification *Complete new graphic look with high-end textures and updated control panels *Completely new physics model with collision and accurate simulation behaviour *World of Trucks newly developed miniature traffic simulator *15 cities complete with the vehicles including famous places and high-class locations *Drive the most contemporary trucks on the market with accompanying premium parts . Man Lion's City GRAPHICAL PRESENCE For MAN Lion's City the graphics are completely new and combine perfectly with today's most powerful video cards. Additional special effects such as an animated shadow and dynamically positioning lights were included. Daily Driver Simulator and Airport Simulator You also need a Fully Loaded SIMCARD that allows you to download all games. If you are connecting to a third party server there is NO DRM, credit cards are NOT required. The main service provides a SIMCARD that allows you to download all games up to 15 days (7 Days
