to repair a broken 2ad-ftv, you must first determine which parts are broken. you can do this by looking at the cables on the unit. if you see a cable that has broken loose or has a bulge, this is a sign that the cable is damaged. if the cable has a bulge, try to determine if it is a small bulge or a large bulge. a large bulge is the result of a cable that has been severely damaged. if a cable does not have a bulge, it is possible that the cable is damaged and you will need to replace it. next, you must determine the type of damage to the cable. there are three different types of damage. if the cable does not have a break, it is possible that the cable is damaged and you will need to replace it. if the cable is damaged at the wire itself, you will need to replace it. you do not need to replace the cable if the cable is damaged at the plug. if you are unsure of the type of damage, it is a good idea to ask someone who has experience repairing 2ad-ftv's. after you determine which part is broken, you must replace the part. a good way to do this
